

British-Russian Innovation Network

Б р и т а н о - Р о с с и й с к а я и н н о в а ц и о н н а я с е т ь

Technology Transfer and Collaboration in the Field of Innovation MGU, Moscow Science Park

25th of May, 2006

10.00 Welcome and introduction

David Vincent, British Embassy in Moscow, First Secretary Science, Environment & Nuclear Safety

Mikhail Subin, Foundation for Assistance to Small Innovative Enterprises (FASIE), Deputy director general

10:20 Plenary Section

Technology transfer and in its role in the process of Innovation. European policy. Support initiatives. Intentions. Potential TT cooperation with Russia
Representative of European Commission, TBC, European Union

Foundation for Assistance to Small Innovative Enterprises: development of a support infrastructure for small innovative companies in Russia, a policy of support of the small companies, existing projects and programs on support of international joint companies.

Mikhail Subin, Foundation for Assistance to Small Innovative Enterprises (FASIE), Deputy director general, Moscow

UK technology markets. Good practice. Practical experience. What works, what doesn't work. Initiatives in place.

Alison CAMPBELL, Managing Director, KCL Enterprises, UK

State policy in the field of venture investment.

Tatyana Gordienkova, Head of department, Science and Innovation Federal Agency, Moscow

11:30 Coffee-break

International TT. Intellectual properties and legal aspects of TT in Russia.

Sergei Zukov, Director general, TT Centre, Moscow

Russian Technology Transfer Network is element of national innovation infrastructure

Gennady Pilnov, Director general, NP RTTN, Obninsk

Collaboration experience of European and Russian innovation systems by the example of French-Russian technology network

Gregoire lakouchevski, OSEO anvar, Paris

British Russian Innovation Network: Network overview, Progress to date, Lessons learned

Antony DAVIES, Beta Technology Limited, UK

13:00-14:00 Lunch

Project «Science and Technology Commercialisation, Russian Federation»

Representative of the Project or Europaid

Global Watch

Representative of Global Watch, UK

Joint Ventures and internationalization. The UK experience

Ray Jones, RTC North, UK

C-Tech – Looking for collaboration

Ian Holmes, C-Tech, UK

Existing reserves for successful work of TT Centers

Tatyana Molochnaya, Head of department, Volga State Academy of Water Transport, N.Novgorod

15:40 Coffee-break

16:00 BRIN Future. The next 12/24 months. How we can work together.

17.00 Final discussion. Closing of conference.